AWAIT FULL COMPLIANCE BY GENERAL CARRANZA

VITAL POINT AT ISSUE STILL REMAINS TO BE SETTLED

Lansing Apparently Determined to Get Clear Statement of Attitude of Mexican Forces Toward American Troops in Mexico—Troopers Safe on American Soil—Bring Two Widely Divergent Stories.

BULLETIN

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 29.—Bandits attacked the bridge over the Medina River at MacDona, Texas, about twenty miles southwest of San Antonio tonight according to a report received here. The bridge guard of United States soldiers routed their assailants who fled in the darkness.

Two Americans were wounded and one being brought in to the base hospital at Fort Sam Houston. One of the bandits was taken prisoner.

The wounded men are expected to arrive early in the morning. No further details of the encounter have been received at headquarters.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Washington government still awaited tonight full compliance with its demands by the de facto authorities of Mexico. Release today by General Carranza's order of the American prisoners taken at Carrizal has averted the probability of immediate retaliatory steps. It is possible that it has also helped to pave the way toward an attempt at peaceful settlement of the whole border situation. High officials made it very clear however, that the vital point at issue—the future attitude of Mexican forces toward American troops in Northern Mexico engaged in guarding the border and pursuing bandits who raided American territory remains to be settled.

No Advice Regarding Reply.

The state department had no advice tonight as to when a diplomatic reply to its demands might be expected. The Carranza government has adopted the unusual course of complying in fact with an urgent demand from a foreign government before it even acknowledged receipt of the note or made any statements of what is proposed to do.

Pending a satisfactory answer to its second and more far reaching requirement the United States will continue to hurry troops to the border and to take every step necessary in preparation for the carrying out of its purposes by force of arms.

Intimations have come, it is understood that Carranza intends to back up the orders issued by General Trevino directly that American troops be attacked if they moved in any direction in Mexico except toward the border.

Determined to Get Clear Statement.

Officials are fully prepared for a reply of that character, despite the fact that the prisoners taken at Carrizal have been promptly surrendered on demand. They expect however, that the reaffirmation of position will be made in a note free from hostile language and continuing the discussion of the advisability of the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico. Apparently Secretary Lansing is determined to get a clear statement of intentions on which action by the United States can be founded.

Carranza officials profess an earnest desire to avoid a clash however, and a further struggle to fix diplomatically responsibility for hostilities that may come is foreshadowed.

Mr. Lansing made it clear today to Ignacio Calderon, minister from Bolivia that pending a formal reply from the Carranza government to his last note of mediation would be the minister had noted reports.

Them inister had noted reports that the Carrizal prisoners had been released and called to see whether they had changed their views.

Secretary Lansing succeeded in convincing his caller that it would be a waste of time to attempt to talk about mediation at this stage, whatever might be possible later.

Troopers Safely Out of Mexico.

El Paso, Texas, June 29.—The twenty three negro troopers of the Tenth Cavalry who at Carrizal, Villa Ahumada, Chihuahua City and Juarez have been central figures in the most striking and potential chapters of the Mexican situation, are once more safely out of Mexico.

Survivors of a bloody fight with a vastly superior force, victims twice of mobs that stoned them; more than once gripped with fear of execution for their part in the Boyd expedition; and lastly, objects of intercession by the president of the United States, they were brought to the border from Chihuahua City, on a special train today and turned over to General Bell Jr., commander of the El Paso base.

With them came Lem H. Spillsbury, the Mormon scout who guided Captain Charles T. Boyd and his lit-

JACK DILLON OUTPOINTS MORAN IN NINE ROUNDS

WINNER IS OUTWEIGHED BY FULLY
THIRTY-FIVE POUNDS

Moran Starts Off to Batter Down His Opponent, But Dillon is Fast and Too Clever for the Big Fellow—Moran Has Advantage In Only the Third Round.

New York, June 29.—Altho outweighed by fully 35 pounds and having a disadvantage of nearly six inches in height, Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis light-heavy-weight, cleverly outfoxed and outpointed Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavy-weight in nine rounds in a ten round bout at the Federal League baseball grounds, Washington park, tonight.

Moran's weight was announced as 244 pounds, and Dillon's 169. Dillon went on the scales in fighting togs, while Moran was stripped. The Indianapolis man was in fine condition but Moran looked fat.

Dillon was the aggressor from the start, altho Moran landed the first blow to the head. Moran, instead of playing a waiting game, started off to batter down his opponent, but Dillon was fast and too clever for the big fellow.

Moran swung two hard rights to stomach in the opening round, but Dillon came back fast with short lefts and rights to the body and face, and at the end of the round Dillon made a shade better of the round.

In the second round Moran missed several attempts to land his right swing, while Dillon bored in with both hands at close quarters always having the better of the milling, driving short lefts and rights to the stomach and bringing up snappy right half arm jolts to the jaw and face.

The third round was the only one in which Moran had the advantage. He drove Dillon to the ropes with left and right smashes to the head and body and took Dillon across the ring, pounding him with both hands working a close range.

Toward the end of this round Dillon made a fast rally getting his short arm work but Moran sent two left hooks to the body and a right to the head. At the close of the round which was the only one Moran could claim in the bout he seemed to be exhausted from the efforts he made in the preceding rounds.

Dillon rushed and smashed rights and lefts and uppercuts at close quarters one of his snappy jolts sending the blood flying from Moran's nose in the fourth round.

During the next six rounds Dillon always had the upper hand ducking Moran's swings at times and then rushing to close quarters when he always landed three blows to Moran's one.

Moran tried frequently to get over a right swing, but never could land it effectively altho several times he got telling blows on the body with both left and right. At no stage from the end of the third round was Dillon in danger as he evaded Moran's leads cleverly and Moran never appeared dangerous after Dillon had landed a left to the body and a right to the jaw which shook Moran up from toes to head. Moran tried desperately to land a punch in the tenth round and got Dillon on the ropes with swinging lefts and rights to the body but Dillon came back at close range again and with a right uppercut, cut Moran's left eye so the Pittsburgher left the ring with a swollen nose and his left eye bleeding freely.

Their appearance brought forth a chorus of laughter.

Chef Troopers in El Paso

When the formalities of the transfer had been ended and the Americans marched off the international bridge to El Paso, they were greeted by a vast roar of cheering from the thousands gathered there. However, the authorities soon quelled the demonstration to the great disappointment of the participants who had stood guard from sun up until three o'clock in the afternoon to welcome the returning troopers.

One of the features of the day's developments was the arrival here of Captain Lewis S. Morey, for treatment at the Fort Bliss hospital of the wound he received at Carrizal only an hour before the prisoners were released.

Captain Morey's coming was also lost sight of in the other event. Tonight he arranged to visit the dusky soldiers at Fort Bliss. Fifteen of the men of K Troop are under his command.

Scheduled to arrive in Juarez early this morning the special train delayed by General Jacinto Trevino at Chihuahua City to carry the twenty four prisoners to the border in response to President Wilson's peremptory demand did not pull into Juarez until noon. Departure was made in the night, the prisoners being taken to the train secretly so as to avoid arousing the people.

Crowd Lines Railroad Tracks.

It was almost nine o'clock when the train pulled out. The crowd which greeted the train, consisting of an engine, tank, day coach and caboose, packed the station platform lined the railroad tracks to the towns main street and sat on the tops of empty box cars. Straw sombreros of huge size and bright shawls showed that a large part came from the hill

COMPLETE ORPET'S CROSS-EXAMINATION

Defense Sets About to Show that Marion Lambert Committed Suicide

HEAR TWO WITNESSES

Instructor at High School Testifies Cyanide Was Available in Chemistry Laboratory

GIRL IN ROOM FEBRUARY 8

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 29.—A three day cross-examination of Will H. Orpet, University of Wisconsin student charged with the murder of Marion Lambert, having been concluded this afternoon, the defense immediately set about to show that the Lake Forest high school girl committed suicide by taking potassium cyanide. Two witnesses were heard before adjournment on the point of the availability of the poison to her.

Testify Poison was Available.

These witnesses, John B. Vergoe, a special student at the Deerfield high school which was attended by Marion, and E. J. Tragoe, the instructor in chemistry, testified that the cyanide was available in liquid form in the chemistry laboratory and in crystal form in the stock room adjoining.

The British along their part of the front in France and Belgium are keeping up their heavy bombardment of German trenches and sending out raiding parties who are reported to be doing effective work inflicting more or less serious casualties on the Germans and bringing back prisoners.

The guns of the British have done much damage to German trenches at many points, according to London.

In the Austro-Italian theater the Italians in the Trentino region are still driving back the Austrians and recapturing important positions taken from them in the recent Austrian offensive. The Italians also have opened a big offensive against the Austrians on the eastern front, around Monte San Michele, San Martino and Vermiglione. Here however, according to Vienna the Italians are being partly repulsed by Austrian counter-attacks.

For President.

CHARLES E. HUGHES.

The Baltimore Sun tells about a bridegroom who after having the ceremony performed, called the minister to one side and expressing his regret that he had no money to pay for the ceremony said, "But if you will come down into the cellar I will show you how to fix your gas meter so it won't register." This was about in line with the young man who offered his first testimony in a Methodist prayer meeting out in Western Kansas, and declared that he was willing to do anything the Lord wanted him to do so long as it was honorable.

The Chicago Post sometimes the champion of the present administration has this:

General Scott, who has just adjusted many a controversy on the border only to have his tact as a diplomatist made fruitless by the muddling policy of Washington, was honored by the Pennsylvania Military College at its recent commencement with the degree of doctor of military science. He was too busy with the latest Mexican crisis to receive the honor in person. Only one other man in the United States, General Leonard Wood, has the right to tack this degree to his name.

Ready To Enlist Under Roosevelt.

It is characteristic of Colonel Roosevelt that he has anticipated possibilities which the future holds and has his plans well laid for the organization of a special division of the army of 12,000 men. For months the colonel has been working on these plans. He has consulted high military authorities and has worked out such details and called to his assistance such workers that on very short notice this great troop of soldiers under his command could be ready for service. There is something contagious about the colonel's enthusiasm, something so impelling in his vigorous and resourceful manhood, that it is easily understandable how he can have definite assurances of the prompt enlistment of a great body of soldiers, even at a time when there has not been a great rush of volunteers to the enlistment offices.

the thought was there—the first thing Mexican people need is an improvement in sanitary conditions and their education. In fact, sanitation and cleanliness must be a part of their education, and only when the dirt of ignorance has been swept away and the standards of the Mexican people improved by education, will there be any permanent and great improvement in conditions across the border.

All things point to the belief that this battle with ignorance, if not just now, must eventually be the task of the United States. So if occupation of Mexico comes it will not be for the purpose of acquiring more territory or greater wealth, but for fulfilling the duty thrust upon us by the demands of civilization.

Franchise Would Settle All the Troubles

The city had a somewhat difficult case to defend in the county court when the street railway company made objections to the paving on East State street and South Main street. The case was the more difficult because the railway company is operating without a franchise right in the street altho there are acknowledged rights because the company is occupying the streets and conducting its transportation business there. In most cities where traction companies are operating the franchises granted provide that the company shall keep the space between the rails and a short distance on each side properly paved, and there is therefore no question about the authority of the city to compel such paving to be done. Here, without franchises, there are no such paving requirements and the case was on that account the more difficult to defend.

The situation merely emphasizes the fact that the conditions are not what they should be. Time and again it has been pointed out that there would be no settled relationship between the local utility company and the public until franchises are agreed upon and granted. The franchises would be in reality contracts between the company and the city and the rights of each would be definitely outlined. The present situation of the company and the city engaging in a constant legal struggle is of distinct disadvantage to everybody concerned.

It will be good day for the public when rates for gas and electricity have been finally agreed upon and when the proper rights of the street railway company have been outlined.

The city of Jacksonville needs the services from the railway and light company and the company needs the patronage of the public. Only when existing conditions and doubts have been cleared away will the best service be possible, and the franchise question is at the bottom of all the difficulties. Settle the franchise question and the whole big proposition is settled at the same time.

Senator Hull's Candidacy.

Politicians down state are at a loss to explain the candidacy of Senator Morton Hull of Chicago, who it is said will seek the Republican gubernatorial nomination, unless Senator Hull has been made to look upon the matter as one of duty. People who are personally acquainted with the senator declare that he is a man of high ideals and purposes and has been a very useful member of the Illinois general assembly. He is very finely educated and rated as a millionaire.

There does not seem to be logic in his name as a governorship possibility at this time. The Deneen forces in Cook county have been looking for some candidate to pit against Colonel Lowden. They are not satisfied with Colonel Frank Smith of Dwight, but it does not look reasonable that they could expect to make much of a dent in the Lowden chances by selecting a candidate from Cook county.

While Senator Hull is well known there, and his name has been heard in connection with the Illinois general assembly, comparatively few people down state know anything about him or his record. The sort of a candidate to prove at all formidable against Colonel Lowden would be a downstate man who could combine a lot of country strength with whatever vote Mr. Deneen and his associates control in Cook county.

Another weakness in the senator's candidacy as an opponent of Lowden is that he is a millionaire. There has been some little objection to Colonel Lowden because he is identified with the Pullman interests and is a man of such great wealth. To take advantage of this appeal to the "common people" it would be necessary to select a candidate not in the millionaire class. But looking at the matter from a much broader view than that of attacking the man because he happens to have money and suggesting that for this reason he is not a fit representative of the plain rank and file, how are poor men or those of moderate means to conduct campaigns for the governorship under the present primary law?

It is admitted that a candidate for the governorship if he wages an active campaign must spend something like $20,000 or $30,000. This sum is necessary for such legitimate expenses as paying the postage on mailing lists, maintaining headquarters and for paying the salaries of the necessary managers, clerks and traveling representatives. To send one letter to every Republican voter in the state costs about $30,000.

The figure on this one item gives an indication as to how the grand total of expenditures is easily swelled. So after all, any candidate for the governorship must either have a "barrel" of his own or one that his political friends provide.

Your Problem?

There are some problems which nearly all men have in common. One of these is to provide for those dependent upon them. When the head of the family is taken by death, a critical time. Affairs of property, well ordered before, may quickly become complicated in hands unaccustomed to business. A man should above everything else plan to meet this situation. In this, nothing is of more importance than proper consideration of one's WILL, and the selection of the agency to carry out its provisions.

The management of estates and trusts can be carried on much better by Trust Companies than by individuals. Trust Companies are engaged in this business every day, have every facility to care for such business, are absolutely responsible, always accessible and permanent

The Peerless Mitchell Car

JOHN W. BATE, the efficiency engineer, is in charge of Mitchell production.

He designed the model factory, which now covers 45 acres. He equipped it with 2092 minute-saving machines.

The $5,000,000 Mitchell plant is now conceded to be the most efficient in the world for building cars of this class.

His genius for efficiency is also shown in a thousand details of the car itself.

It appears in utter simplicity. It appears in a wealth of Chrome-nickel steel.

It is shown in 184 drop forgings, in 256 steel stampings—largely displacing parts heavier, more brittle and less strong.

37 engineers, each a notable expert, most of them of nationwide fame, selected the Mitchell as the car for their personal use. They did it of their own volition. The fact is that these men—who can understand—bought the Mitchell for themselves. And by this choice they certify the Mitchell as a masterpiece of modern engineering.

MISS ELSIE MOXON IS WEDDED TO GEORGE S. HART OF ALTON

Ceremony was performed Thursday night at home of the bride—other weddings.

A beautiful home wedding was solemnized Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Moxon on West College avenue, when their daughter Miss Elsie Moxon was married to George Samuel Hart, formerly of Franklin but now resident of Alton. The ceremony was said by the Rev. Frederic B. Madden pastor of Grace M. E. church.

The impressive ring ceremony was used, and as the young people unattended entered the parlor, Miss Frances Kolp played the wedding march from Lohengrin. Miss Kolp also sang, "I Love You Truly." Daisies and yellow lilies were employed in a decorative scheme of pleasing originality. The bride was gowned in white organdy and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served in the dining room and on the east porch of the residence the Vickers serving. The cutting of the cake was an event which afforded much merriment. The ring was obtained by Miss Hazel Moxon, the darning needle by Miss Bertha Dunlap, the dime by Miss Bessie Hart, and the keys by Percy Wilcox.

Following the supper the young couple attempted to slip away from the house, attempting their escape by way of a ladder from an upstairs window, but these plans were frustrated and there were showers of rice and shoes.

The bride is possessed of a large number of friends and many are the good wishes she has received for a wedded life of unbroken happiness. She is a young woman of charm and industry, worthy in every way of the congratulations showered upon her. She was graduated from the Jacksonville high school and was born and reared in this community. For the past two terms Miss Moxon was teacher of Little York school near Franklin.

The groom is the eldest son of Will C. Hart and is well and favorably known in the Franklin vicinity, where he was reared. For the past few months he has been employed in Alton and there the young people will make their home at the conclusion of a honeymoon trip.

MEXICANS WILL PERMIT REMOVAL OF BODIES OF AMERICAN TROOPERS

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—Minister of War Obregon today instructed General Trevino, the Mexican commander at Chihuahua, to inform Consul Garcia at El Paso that no impediment would be placed in the way of the American authorities if they desired to remove the bodies of the American troopers killed at Carrizal to American territory for burial.

The correspondence between General Obregon and General Trevino arose from a request of General George Bell, Jr., commander of American troops at El Paso, that the Mexican government send the bodies back for burial.

General Obregon informed General Trevino that the expense for the transfer of the bodies to the United States must be borne by the American government.

CITY WON VERDICT IN STREET PAVING CASE

Jury Declares that Assessments Against Street Railway Company For Paving Right of Way are Fair

The city secured a verdict in the paving case heard in the county court yesterday when, after a few moments' deliberation, the jury sustained the original assessment made against the Jacksonville Railway & Light Company for the paving on South Main street and East State street. The estimate made by the engineer fixed the cost of the improvement for the railway and light company on South Main street at $8,377 and on East State street at $4,316.57. These estimates in the opinion of the jurors were justified and correct.

The taking of evidence in this consolidated case before Judge Thomson began Wednesday and was concluded about noon Thursday. The argument made before the jury consumed three and a half hours in the afternoon. Shortly before 5 o'clock Judge Thomson began reading his instructions to the jury and at 5:30 a verdict had been secured. In his closing address John J. Reeve for the city, told the jurors that they were to consider fully the law governing the case and that they were also urged to use their common sense in the consideration of the evidence and the questions at issue. In the opinion of the city's representatives that's just what the jury did.

The opening statement for the city was made by Mr. Worthington and subsequent argument was made by Hugh Green, with John J. Reeve closing the city case. The railway company's argument in the case was presented by H. L. Green, Walter Bellatti and John A. Bellatti in the order named. The burden of the company's contention was that it is unfair for the city to charge the cost of the paving between the rails and the adjacent ground to the railway company when such paving work will not add one dollar to the returns from the operation of the railroad. The company attorneys argued that either no assessment should be made against the company for the paving between the rails or the assessment should only be a small part of that which the city is seeking to collect. It was argued that the franchise right in the street is of only a comparatively small value, not at all commensurate with the proposed assessment.

Mr. Green presented the argument that the proposed improvement on South Main street would mean an absolute loss to the city in addition to the cost of the improvement. His point was that taking the utility commission's estimate of $3,800 as to the physical value of the street railway trackage from the square to Morton avenue, that to tear it up would mean a loss of $3,000 because the salvage would not mean more than $800. The attorney's theory was further that in reality there is nothing against which the assessment can properly be assessed, that the paving would add neither to the value of the franchise right nor to the value of the physical property.

Mr. Reeve maintained that the first consideration if the company wished to sell its property here would be the physical condition of the right of way, that any prospective customer would first of all inspect the trackage conditions. He emphasized the point that the company is using the streets for trackage purposes and that conditions of the paving are such that the paving must be done and either paid for by the railway company, which is using the trackage, or by the public. He pointed out that if the right of way gets into a condition dangerous for traffic and any damage suit results, the city is liable under the law. He pointed out also that the greatest value of railway company property is based on its right to use the streets. A railway he said, would be of no value but as junk if it included cars and trackage if there was no place to lay the track. So from this line of argument he declared that the use of the streets is what gives value to street railway holdings and that it is only proper that the street railway pay for keeping the pavement adjoining its tracks in good and passable condition.

As indicated above, the jury returned the verdict in favor of the city and against the company after a few minutes' consideration of the evidence and the instructions.

AWAIT FULL COMPLIANCE
BY GENERAL CARRANZA

Carranza. Bereft of their complete uniforms, which had been stripped from them at Villa Ahumada, following the battle and had not been restored, they did not look like soldiers. For headgear they wore a motley creation of hats bought from prisoners in the Chihuahua prison, towels or colored bandanas. Shirts were in many cases reduced to underwear. Two of the men wore blankets in lieu of trousers. One had a towel around his waist. Sandals and shoes not of army pattern decked their feet.

One of them managed to smile and said:

"We are sure glad to get back."

Spillsbury Acts as Leader.
Interpreter Lem Spillsbury, the Mormon scout and the only white man, had on a white yachting cap and white trousers many sizes to large. He acted as leader of the party.

From the station the prisoners were marched down the main street to the disinfecting plant where they were fumigated. Spillsbury gave his story in an interview to The Associated Press.

The negroes at this stage refused to talk, saying they must first report their superior officers.

Spillsbury was asked the direct question as to who, in his opinion was responsible for the Carrizal affair.

"I am hardly prepared to answer that question," he said.

"If Captain Boyd had orders to go thru Carrizal to Villa Ahumada, he demonstrated that he was a very brave man and that he would make every effort to carry out his orders. If he did not have orders to go thru Villa Ahumada, he behaved very foolishly."

Three hours later, when Spillsbury had crossed to the American side of the international bridge he was asked:

"Do you know the contents of the statement General Trevino issued regarding your claim that the Carrizal fight resulted from Captain Boyd's action."

"I do," he answered.

"Do you still stick to that statement?"

"I certainly do."

"Were you frightened into making it?"

"I was not."

"You will not change your story, now that you are safe on American soil?"

"No, I certainly will not. But I refuse to answer any more questions."

Mexican Sends For Scout.

Spillsbury said that immediately on his arrival in Chihuahua City, the commander of the Mexican army corps of the north sent for him and asked him to outline the Carrizal affair as he saw it.

Spillsbury said that he was unable to say who fired the first shot at Carrizal and added that the American command engaged there numbered seventy six men, ten of the original eighty six comprising the command having been sent back from Santa Maria.

"We had been on a scouting expedition for several days when Captain Charles T. Boyd, commanding the troops, told me that we were bound for Villa Ahumada for the purpose of investigating reports that bandits were in that vicinity and to locate a deserter," he said. "We arrived outside Carrizal a week ago last Wednesday and Captain Boyd sent a messenger into General Gomez, commanding the Carrancista garrison there, asking permission to pass thru the town toward Ahumada on a peaceful mission.

General Gomez replied by sending Lieutenant Colonel Rivas out to confer with Captain Boyd. A parley at which I was interpreter was held in the center of the field. The Mexican officer told Captain Boyd that his orders were that Americans could not advance south, east or west. Captain Boyd then asked for a personal interview with General Gomez. This was granted.

"General Gomez reiterated the information given by his subordinate and returned to his lines. A few minutes later, almost simultaneously both commands formed in lines of skirmish. Then a detachment of Carranzistas ran around our left flank, apparently to surround us. We found ourselves in the center of a line of Mexicans, stretching in a horseshoe curve about us. Then the firing began.

"I don't know who began it, but from the center of the horseshoe a Mexican machine gun poured a hail of bullets at us, while from the point of the curve on our left flank another was firing at us."

Spillsbury's description of the battle was practically the same as that previously given out by other sources.

Urged Boyd not to Advance

The scout said that after the second conference he had urged Captain Boyd not to advance in the face of the contrary orders of the Mexican leaders but was told that he should follow instructions.

"Don't fire until you are fired on boys," I heard Captain Boyd shout as he gave the order to advance over my earnest protest," he said.

Spillsbury said he was surrounded by a large band of Mexicans who forced him to surrender and threatened to shoot him immediately.

"They said I had fired the shots that killed their leaders and I called me the 'traitor.' I believe that when and consequently I was a traitor."

they were to be killed but I assured them that they were not and as we got further into the interior our confidence began to come back. But again at Chihuahua City, I was told that the governor of the state had ordered my execution and not until I had talked with General Trevino was I completely assured."

Spillsbury and the prisoners all being but the most courteous treatment by the most courteous treatment at the hands of the Mexican soldiers pointing out that every effort was made to control the inflamed civil population of several towns who offered them bodily harm. They were stoned, they said, at Villa Ahumada when they were put on the train.

They were confined in individual cells in the Chihuahua penitentiary. Spillsbury said but throughout the days they were allowed the liberty of a small patio where they gathered and talked over their chances for freedom.

Garcia Notifies General Bell

At three o'clock in the afternoon when the prisoners had eaten their fill, Andres Garcia, Mexican consul at El Paso, telephoned General Bell, who was waiting at the Toltec Club in El Paso, that the Mexican officials were ready to transfer their charges. General Bell and his aides proceeded to the Santa Fe street international bridge at about the same time that the captives were marched out of the commandancia.

As the Americans and their guard headed by General Gonzales, Gonzales and Manuel Prieto, mayor of El Paso, started across the bridge, the American people stood by and watched the scene.

Charles Hopper, who had been here before, had received a telegram from the U.S. Consul in Mexico City, telling him that the Americans had been released and were on their way to the United States.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET IS REVIEWED

Prices Generally Steady for Good Stock—Butcher Stuff Shows Some Advance.

Alexander, Ward & Conover have issued the following review of the Chicago livestock market for the past few days:

Receipts of cattle for the three first days of the week, approximately $3,000 or 10,000 less for the same days a week ago. Prices generally steady with a close of last week with a top of $11.35 with several lots at $11.30. Top on yearlings $10.50.

Prices advanced so rapidly with an average of 25 to 40¢ each week for three or four weeks with a top at $11.50 for heavy cattle and $11.20 for yearlings, which caused the price of the dressed beef to reach the highest prices ever known and so high that consumers in the east balked at the prices, causing products to accumulate. Prices of the beef in New York this week is quoted $3.50 to $2.50 per cwt. less than ten days ago.

For the fair to good cattle was due to break the season of the when they were over known prices.

A full force of policemen was considered for the Fourth of July celebration and a committee to see to the matter was appointed with power to act.

Arrangements were made relative to parking automobiles during the birth and space was allotted for one and extra policemen will be on duty. Arrangements are fully made so as to avoid accident and preserve perfect order.

COMMISSION PRO-
S ILLINOIS CENTENNIAL

Great Meeting or Congress
Review Social Progress of Past
100 Years.

1916 Illinois will celebrate its anniversary as a state. The General Assembly and governmental bodies, counties and cities are preparing for a grand observance of this event.

State Charities Commission in their annual report declares that on occasion as this should not be permitted to pass without adequate demonstration of the social progress made by the state in these years.

Commission urges that those in charge of preparation for this celebration shall not overlook the question.

Along the Commission's suggestion is a great meeting or congress to view the social progress of the state and to discuss the needs of the people and to provide a platform upon which all organizations in the social field can meet in cooperation.

Commission asks that on each day having to do with the celebration of this anniversary, the subjects of the social welfare shall be placed commensurate with its importance.

WABASH FREIGHT WRECK DELAYS TROOP TRAINS

EIGHTEEN CARS GO IN DITCH EAST OF ARNOLD.

National Guardsmen from Elgin States Reach Jacksonville by Water and Proceed West via Wabash—Wrecking Crew Left This Morning by 6 O'clock.

Eighteen cars of rear part of the Wabash freight train No. 95, west bound, were derailed Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at a point one mile east of Arnold. Many of the cars were demolished and some were thrown into the road which runs parallel to the track at that place. The wreck proved a source of considerable delay to a series of troop trains, carrying militiamen from eastern states and bound for Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio, Tex.

The cause of the accident is not known. Some think there was a broken rail. The air system failed, causing the cars to jump the track, according to others. Two box cars were thrown across the road, and one stock car was completely wrecked, making one big pile of splinters. The coal cars were twisted and turned out of shape scattering coal along the right of way. One steel car twisted at right angles with the track, and two telephone poles were knocked across the road strewing wire in every direction.

Fortunately none of the trainmen were injured, but Thomas Donahue, who was riding to the city was thrown to the ground, cutting his head and bruising him badly. The accident was not serious however and he will be all right in a few days.

Railway officials reported last night that it would be some time early this morning before damaged cars could be moved, and traffic could resume. In the meantime all passenger trains are being taken on the C. & A. via Murrayville to Springfield.

Troops Go Thru City.
This wreck caused the delay of several troop trains filled with eastern soldiers, which were passing thru here today. The first train passed thru about one o'clock in the afternoon via the Wabash direct. Several people were on the look out for the soldiers expecting that they would stop here for a short time at least, but in this they were disappointed. As a by-stander said when the train whizzed by, "They didn't even hesitate."

The train was bedecked with flags and banners and the soldiers yelled a greeting to the citizens as they went by. Another train was to pass thru here about six o'clock and the wreck stopped them and they were compelled to return to Springfield and come via the C. & A. This train arrived in the city about eighty thirty and left as soon as it could be switched to the Wabash. The troops were Second Massachusetts infantry, and said they were bound for the border. They seemed very cheerful and songs filled the air about the depot. Several of the men threw post cards and letters off the train asking the citizens to mail them and eager hands grabbed at the letters.

Like the first train the coaches were decorated with flags and banners. On these banners were written "We're after Villa," "We're going to get Carranza." The train which passed thru in the early afternoon was the second battalion of the Massachusetts guardsmen it is thought.

A third train load went thru shortly after two o'clock this morning. The wreck will probably be cleared by the hour of six this morning, it was said, and thus there will be no further delay to troop or passenger trains.

Grand Army of The Republic

A Brief History of Matt Starr Post From Organization to Date
By J. M. Swales

April 6, 1866, the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic was organized in Decatur, Ill., the founder of the order being Dr. B. F. Stephenson, of Petersburg, Ill., and Rev. W. J. Rutledge of Jacksonville. Both were members of the 14th Illinois Infantry, Dr. Stephenson being surgeon of the regiment and Rev. Rutledge the chaplain. Several years prior to his death Rev. Rutledge told me all about the inception of the patriotic order and how under the circumstances it was first conceived.

During the siege of Vicksburg in the early summer of 1863, the 14th regiment, with the rest of the army under Gen. U. S. Grant, was hammering away at the Confederate hosts under Gen. Pemberton. There were times during the siege when there was fierce fighting all along the lines of the contending armies and there were days when there was comparative quiet. One exceedingly warm day in June, and while lying under the shade of an oak tree in the rear of the lines Chaplain Rutledge suggested to Dr. Stephenson that there ought to be some way to perpetuate the valor and heroism of those who were suffering so much to save the Union. Dr. Stephenson coincided with the views of Mr. Rutledge and it remained for the former, about three years later to put the idea, born in the brain of the "fighting parson," into tangible shape, and it was thus that the Grand Army of the Republic was conceived and later became the grandest patriotic organization ever founded by any man or set of men. Since the close of the mighty struggle, more than a half century ago, its influence for good stands unparalleled in the history of the nation. Its valor saved from those who attempted its destruction by waging a four years' disastrous war—a war that filled a million graves and filled the land with more millions of widows and orphans who mourned for those who went down to death in defense of the flag while standing as a wall of fire and steel between the loved homes of the north and war's desolations. Its motto: "Fraternity, Charity, and Loyalty" mean all that's best in the language, and are familiar to every man who wore the blue in the days that tried men's souls, for every man's work was made manifest for they passed thru the furnace of war and were tried by fire. The comradeship of the members of the order was welded in the fire of battle and the bonds of fraternity that holds them together can only be severed by the Grim Sergeant as he calls the roll as they pass from the ranks of the living to join those who have gone into fame's eternal camping ground.

Tinsley asked for damages in the sum of $200. The case has been continued several times but reached a final hearing yesterday. Tinsley asked for a jury and the following were selected to hear the evidence. Sylvester Arbuckle, Edward Tuman, Roland Stice, M. H. Havenhill, David Harris and John Devore. Arbuckle and Harris are colored men. The suit started several weeks ago when Tinsley and John Dunn alleged they were refused service in the Princess Candy Co., establishment on account of color. Both men brought suit and Thomas Cailey one of the proprietors was made defendant for the firm. Some time ago Dunn's suit was dismissed.

Tinsley asked for damages in the sum of $200. The case has been continued several times but reached a final hearing yesterday. Tinsley asked for a jury and the following were selected to hear the evidence. Sylvester Arbuckle, Edward Tuman, Roland Stice, M. H. Havenhill, David Harris and John Devore. Arbuckle and Harris are colored men. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. J. O. Priest was attorney for Tinsley while Kirby, Wilson and Brockhouse appeared for the Princess Candy company. It is not known at this time whether or not Tinsley will take an appeal.

At no time since the first post was organized have one half of those who served in the Union army been members of the order. Over 2,000,000 men served in the army from Fort Sumter to Appomattox. The high water mark was reached in 1890 when there were 409,889 members in good standing in the national organization. Since that time the ranks have been growing thinner year by year. Some of the best men of the nation have worn the little bronze button, including Grant, Sherman, Logan, Sheridan, Hayes, McKinley, and other great leaders in military and civil life. They honored the button and were no less honored by wearing the button. The first commander-in-chief was Major General Stephen A. Hurlbut, in 1865, who was succeeded by Major General John A. Logan, who served three terms and it was thru and by his orders that Decoration Day became a national custom and will be continued as long as the republic endures and as long as valor is appreciated by those who profited by the heroic sacrifices of those who, living and dead, composed the Grand Army of the Republic. When the last member shall have answered the call of the Grim Orderly the organization will cease to exist and will go down in history as the most unique order that was ever organized. There is nothing to recruit from, as is the case with all other fraternal orders, such as the Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and similar organizations whose ranks can be filled with oncoming generations. Only those who served in the Union army from 1861 to 1865 and were honorably discharged, are eligible to membership. None on whom the stain of treason rests can enter a post room of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The question of continuing the organization thru the order of the Sons of Veterans has been voted down on numerous occasions in National Encampments during the years that have passed since Post No. 1 was organized in '66. There is an almost unanimous sentiment among the members of allowing the order to die when its last member expires and thus have it pass into history as an organization that has no parallel in the annals of time. What it stood for when the red tempest swept the land in the tragic days of the sixties will be its monument. Neither the historians of the present nor those of the future can neither add nor detract from the record made by the Grand Army. Marble and bronze may mingle with the dust of dead empires, but thru all the ages to come the work of the Grand Army will be crowned with wreaths of fadeless glory and high on the temple of enduring fame the record will be written in letters of living light so that future generations may point with pride to the deeds of those who builded wisely than they knew in remodeling the republic, with freedom as its chief corner stone, and liberty shining from its lofty pinnacle which has radiated to the remotest ends of the earth. The freeing of 4,000,000 bondsmen as a military necessity had the effect of enrolling labor, for it demonstrated for all time that true nobility is not above the dignity of honest toil. Without the backing of the Grand Army on the field of battle the Emancipation Proclamation as signed by the great war president would not have been written. In fact the Grand Army wrote a new constitution in lines of glittering steel, and burned the old slave-ridden document with fire and sword, and at the same time wiped from the flag the foul blot of human slavery upon it at Fort Sumter, had been a daunting lie. It did all this and more.

It not only saved the Union, but saved the south itself from self-destruction, for had secession succeeded we would not today be a world-power with a flag that makes tyrants tremble and crowned heads doff their uneasy crowns to a nation that has never known defeat, either on land or sea. Those who welded the Union in the fire of battle made it possible for the boys of '98 to change the map of the world in ninety days and reunite the north and south in bonds of an indissoluble Union such as we have today, and need more now than ever before in view of the cataclysm that is now shaking and threatening to engulf the world in the red water of ruin and utter desolation and the devastating evils that follow in the train of the hell of war, such as is now crimsoning the soil of half the world, and piling up debts that staggers the imagination and places mortgages on future generations, even to the third and fourth to liquidate.

There is another Grand Army today rushing to arms to defend the flag just as the old Grand Army did in the heroic days of the long ago when the hydra-headed monster of treason and rebellion threatened the life of the nation, and many members of this new army are sons and grandsons of the vanishing heroes of the sixties, and descendants of those who raised Old Glory over the halls of the Montezumas nearly three quarters of a century ago. And the boys of '16, as did their ancestors at Buena Vista and Gettysburg, will give a good account of themselves or answer to God the reason why, and bring back the flag unashamed from the fields of Mexico. All this in case we have war with the de facto government of Carranza.

With this prelude to the subject in hand I will now proceed to notice the G. A. R. and its early history as applied to Jacksonville. Soon after the Decatur post was organized in '66 the order spread all over the State and adjoining states and in due course of time all over the states of the north, east and west, and a few posts were organized in the states lately in rebellion. Jacksonville was early in the game and a charter was applied for and the boys fell in line with the enthusiasm characteristic of their entry into the service in 1861. The first meeting was held in Osborne's hall, on the northeast corner of the public square. As the number increased rapidly this hall became too small and the large spacious room over Myers Bros., was secured. While I was a charter member I can neither remember the name nor the number of the post, nor can I find any one who is any wiser about the matter than myself. The first commander was Dr. John W. Craig, assistant surgeon of my old regiment, the Tenth Illinois infantry. I was senior vice commander and at the next election was elected commander. At one time there were about 500 members and as one of the boys defined the letters "G. A. R." they were generally All Republicans. Politics entered largely into the proceedings of the order and there were many in it for what they could get out of it, politically speaking, and may be regarded largely as patriots for revenue only. The order for several years ran along with more or less friction on account of politics, and other questions foreign to the objects of the order and it soon became evident that unless politics were eliminated the G. A. R. would literally die a-borning. And it came perilously near it. Past after post gave up the ghost. Of the more than a half hundred posts in Illinois only one held to its original character and continued business thru all those years and that was Rockford post, and by so doing finally became post No. 1, and is so known today. For 25 years or more Thomas G. Lawler was commander, with the exception of one year, 1894, when he was commander-in-chief of 369,033 members of the order, and for the same number of years he was postmaster of Rockford, and died in the harness. The rock on which the Jacksonville post went to pieces was politics. A prominent member of the order who, by the way, was also a postmaster, had some trouble with the postoffice department which resulted in his suspension and ultimately losing his job altogether. In order to bring about his reinstatement as postmaster a resolution was offered by the late Col. John W. King in behalf of the delinquent postmaster, but was unanimously voted down on the ground that it was a political proposition and of right had no place in an order that was supposed to be non-sectarian and likewise non-political. From time to time disturbing elements came to the surface. Politicians tried to use the Grand Army to advance their personal interest in city, county, state and national affairs. All this boded disaster and it seemed that the order was doomed to be wrecked on the rock of politics, inspired by those who placed selfish ambition above patriotism. As a result of all this turmoil of political devilry many thousands withdrew from the ranks and the great order was in a state of semi-dissolution.

However, along in the early eighties, the organization took on new life, new vigor, and a determination to run the order on the lines laid down by the ritual which meant that "Fraternity, Charity and Loyalty" were henceforth to be more than sounding brass and tinkling cymbal.

In the late fall of 1883 the question of reorganizing came to the front among the veterans of Jacksonville, and on November 29, 1883 Comrade Alexander Armstrong circulated a petition and secured the following names as charter members: (The asterisk after the name denotes those who have passed on.) Alexander Armstrong, Phillip Lee*, E. A. Goodrick*, Caleb Letton*, Amos Henderson, John Vasconcellos*, Columbus Hairgrove, L. A. Patterson, Charles Heinz*, A. B. Core, W. T. Humphrey*, W. H. H. Hoover*, J. M. Swales, John A. Schaub, G. W. Fox, C. W. McLain*, T. J. Moseley*, F. G. Hocking*, Alexander Platt, John W. King*, J. S. Samuels*, E. H. Perry*, J. M. Goodrick*, W. H. Hodges*, T. Hopper*, A. Cincere*, Thomas Kimball*, Charles Bickford, Richard Mathews*, Marshall Green*, George C. McFarland*, T. B. Orear and W. H. Clauer.

In going over a lot of my old letters and documents recently I came across the minutes of the first meeting of the organizers of the post.

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 30, 1883 Meeting was called to order, and on motion Capt. Philip Lee was elected chairman and J. M. Swales was chosen secretary. On motion of Alex Armstrong Capt. Lee was elected treasurer pro tempore, whose duty it shall be to receive all moneys contributed by those interested in the work of organizing a Grand Army post in this city. On motion of John W. King, the chairman and secretary are instructed to correspond with headquarters and see if the old charter can be renewed and if not, members to be assessed $1.00 each to secure a new charter. Motion carried.

An Oil Shampoo That Preserves the Hair

If men would use EVERY WEEK ANTI-SEPTIC OIL SHAMPOO instead of the alkali shampoos and soaps which are so commonly used, they would preserve their hair rather than invite baldness. EVERY WEEK SHAMPOO dissolves and removes the dandruff (dry or oily), opens the hair cells, feeds and strengthens the famished roots and leaves the hair clean, soft, fluffy, silky and the scalp healthy. A weekly application keeps the scalp clean, healthy and the hair in excellent condition.

The perfect shampoo for men, women and children. A large bottle (64 teaspoonfuls) 50c at

SOX EASILY TRIUMPH OVER DETROIT TIGERS

CHICAGO GOES INTO FOURTH PLACE.

Goals by Cobb and Heilman, Who
Divide the Only Four Hits Off
Wolfgang, Are Main Factors in Tiger Runs.

Chicago, June 29.—Harry Covenleskie supported himself so poorly today that Chicago easily triumphed over Detroit 8 to 2 helped by Wolfgang's good pitching and went into fourth place. In the fifth Covenleskie made two wild throws, one of which with the bases full allowed the White Sox three runs. Doubles by Cobb and Heilman, who divided the only four hits off Wolfgang, were main factors in the Tigers runs.

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN

Special Treatment Required.

Many women suffer from a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms are similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines usually prescribed do not restore the patient's normal condition.

There seems to be a kind of dyspepsia caused by derangement of the female organism. While this appears to be the same as ordinary indigestion it can be relieved only by a medicine which, besides acting as a stomach tonic, is good for female ailments. Read what such a medicine did for Mrs. Williams:

"Before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with dyspepsia and bearing down pains in my back and sides, and after my meals my stomach would bloat up till I could scarcely get my breath. At times I was so weak I could hardly stand on my feet and I looked hollow-eyed and my skin was yellow. Now I have a good color, have gained in every way and can do my work without any pains. I think it is the best medicine on earth for stomach troubles of women." — Mrs. NELLIE WILLIAMS, 31 West 3d Street, New Albany, Ind.

ference to renewing the old charter and apply for a new one.

Dr. W. H. King moved that the secretary apply for a new charter. So ordered.

The following paid the sums opposite their names:

J. M. Swales	$1.00
W. H. H. King	$1.00
W. D. Moss	$1.00
Thomas Letton	$1.00
Thomas Kimball	$1.00
Caleb Letton	$1.00
J. C. Vasconcellos	$1.00
Alex Armstrong	$1.00
C. W. McLain	$1.00
Charles Heinz	$1.00

The meeting then adjourned.

Philip Lee,
Chairman.

J. M. Swales,
Secretary.

Of the above names only two are living so far as I can now recall. Comrade Alex Armstrong and myself, the others having long ago joined the silent majority. One or two other meetings were held before the post was mustered in which took place January 11, 1884, the mustering officers being Capt. Hugh Mack and Captain John C. Bell, both of Stephenson Post, No. 30, G. A. R., of Springfield, Illinois.

On my motion, at the first regular meeting after mustering, I had the honor of naming the post in honor of that splendid patriot and intrepid leader of the Sixth Illinois Cavalry, Col. Matthew H. Starr, who was mortally wounded at Memphis, Tenn. It came about this way: Comrade Armstrong suggested the name of General John A. Logan, who was lying at that time but as the rules of the G. A. R. were that posts could only be named after deceased comrades, hence my motion carried and the organization came to be known as Matt Starr Post, 378, Department of Illinois Grand Army of the Republic.

Following is a list of names and the years they served as commanders, some of whom served two terms:

Philip Lee*	1884
John A. Schaub	1885
E. A. Goodrick*	1887
H. O. Cassell*	1888
John G. Loomis	1889
John W. Melton	1890
George Faul	1891
J. M. Swales	1892
John W. Melton	1893
C. L. Hayden*	1894
Philip Lee*	1895
B. T. Brown*	1897
W. H. H. Hoover*	1898
Samuel Eastman*	1899
S. W. Thornton*	1900
H. W. Hitt*	1901
J. W. W. Waller	1902
W. A. Kirby	1903
Yucurgo Goheen	1904
C. A. Catlin* (died April 1.)	1905
W. J. Mareau* (finished Catlin's term)	1906
G. W. Fox	1906
Alex Platt	1907
J. M. Terry	1913
Lewis R. Penfield	1913
J. R. Kirkman	1910
W. H. Jordan	1912
J. A. Schaub	1914
Benjamin Wood	1915
John Minter	1916

The * indicates those who have passed away.

Sixteen years ago the post numbered 220 in good standing and altogether 329 comrades had been mustered into the post. The present membership is less than 50, all of which goes to show that the Grim Gleaner has been kept pretty busy.

Many of the members have been honored with important positions in the state and national encampments, serving on committees and on the staffs of department and national commanders. The post furnished one department officer, that of department chaplain, the Rev. S. W. Thornton, who was chosen for that highly honored position in 1900 when the state encampment was held in Jacksonville. It will be remembered that he was pastor of Grace M. E. church in Springfield for several years, later being assigned to the pastorate of the M. E. church at Cerro Gordon where he "died in the harness" several years ago. His last words were: "Bury me where I fell." And a loyal Christian soul passed to the immortals, leaving a legacy of loyalty and undying devotion to two banners—the Stars and Stripes and the blood-washed banner of the Great King.

In concluding this incomplete history of Matt Starr Post it might not be inappropriate to give brief sketch of the military record of him for whom the post was named.

He was born in Jacksonville, Illinois, October 3, 1838, and was educated in this city. His father was a Methodist minister and a rank copper-head before and during the civil war, and was strongly and bitterly opposed to the son's enlisting in the army. But nothing daunted him. He placed his name on the roll of the Sixth Illinois Cavalry as a private in Co. L, November 14, 1861. In May, 1862, he was promoted second Lieutenant; July 30, 1862, first Lieutenant; December 19, 1862, he was promoted Captain and April 3, 1863, rose to the rank of Major. In November 1863, he had climbed to the rank of Lieutenant colonel and on July 12, 1864, his shoulders were decorated with the eagle. His meteoric rise was all due to his intrepidity on the field of battle. August 21, 1864, Gen. N. B. Forrest, the noted Confederate leader led a cyclone raid on Memphis, Tenn., and in the desperate fighting which followed the gallant young colonel was mortally wounded, brought to his home here where his star of glory set Oct. 2, 1864. And the balmy breezes of June are today singing a low, sad requiem over his grassy mound in the old Jacksonville cemetery.

REWARDED WITH FISHING TRIP

Some time since Messrs. Strawn & Spink, state managers of the Columbia Life Insurance Co., offered a fishing trip at their expense to the local agents who would make a certain showing of business and today they expect to make their promise good, each taking his Mitchell car and a load of agents up to Clear Lake in the vicinity of Havana for a genuine, first class day's outing. Those who have made good and earned the reward are E. M. Spink, C. D. Gunn, J. M. T. Spink, Wallace Spink of Chandlerville, W. W. Spink of Havana, and W. N. Pfeffer of New Berlin.

Of course it is needless to add that the gentlemen are anticipating a royal good time.

Louis Mandeville of the vicinity of Woodson visited the city yesterday.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

TAX AMENDMENT URGED.

TERMINAL ESSENTIAL TO ANY RELIEF FROM INCREASING BURDEN ON REAL ESTATE.

In connection with the important tax amendment to the State Constitution which is to be voted upon at the election, November 7, the following communication has been received from the Real Estate Association of the State of Illinois:

"At the annual meeting of the Real Estate Association of the State of Illinois the resolution as follows was carried:

"Whereas the system of taxation now operative in the State of Illinois is antiquated and bears heavily upon the owner of real estate.

"And Whereas, every attempt to compel the wealthy owners of stocks, bonds and other personal property to bear a fair share of the expenses of government has failed because of the iron bound constitutional restrictions;

"And Whereas, the only relief possible for the owners of real estate not only from present high taxes but from constantly increasing taxes as the expenses of government increase is thru the amendment of the constitution to permit the classification of personal property so that the same may be equitably taxed, thus raising from personality a very large amount of money now totally lost to the government;

"Now Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Real Estate Association of the State of Illinois hereby approves the adoption by the people of the pending Tax Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Illinois and urges all real estate dealers and land owners to the most active effort in order that the Amendment shall not be lost either by an adverse majority or by the failure of voters to vote on the question because the Amendment to carry must receive the affirmative votes of a majority of all votes cast at the election to be held November 7th, 1916.

"Subsequent to the passing of this resolution, resolution was introduced by Mr. George S. Hoff of Danville Ill., to the effect that Secretary of the Association mail to you a copy of this resolution as above, with the suggestion that the Amendment be discussed by the Farmers State Association.

"The following cities were represented at this meeting yesterday: Danville, Rockford, Elgin, Decatur, Joliet, Springfield, Champaign, Peoria, Chicago, Bloomington and Freeport.

Yours very truly,

The Real Estate Association of the State of Illinois.

By Jos. K. Brittain,
Secretary.

This subject is now new to the Illinois Farmers' Institute. The late A. P. Grout of Winchester, for many years an officer in the Institute, was an active member of the Special Tax Commission which drafted the pending Amendment, and the State Institute first endorsed the Amendment during Mr. Grout's presidency in 1913. Last February at Decatur, the Twenty-first Annual Meeting of the State Farmers' Institute reaffirmed this endorsement with the following resolution:

"Resolved: That we recommend the adoption at the next general election on November 7, of the pending amendment to the Revenue Article of the Illinois State Constitution, in order that the General Assembly may have the necessary authority to revise our revenue laws and adjust the present unequal burdens of taxation."

The Farmers' Grain Dealers' Association of Illinois, the Illinois Livestock Breeders' Association, and many local agricultural organizations in different parts of the State also have urged its adoption by the voters.

The action of the State Real Estate Association is welcome. Too much attention cannot be given to the Tax Amendment. It took years of hard work to secure its submission by the General Assembly. If it fails to carry on November 7, it will take many years before we can even hope for improvement or any relief from increased burdens on real property, double taxation, etc. It will require a majority of all votes cast for public officials at the November 7 election to carry it. Failure to mark the "little ballot" for the Amendment will be counted as against it. Therefore, those who believe the tax system should be changed, must remember to vote for the Tax Amendment and urge their neighbors to remember to vote for it.

All wishing to aid the campaign for its adoption should write to Frank I. Mann, Gilman, Illinois, Chairman, Illinois Tax Amendment Committee—Illinois Farmers' Institute.

H. A. McKeene,
Secretary.

PUPIL OF SCHOOL FOR BLIND WINNER IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Leota Lohr of Ipava Receives Prize Offered by Woman's Magazine of New York.

The managers of the Woman's Magazine of New York City recently offered two prizes for the first and second best essay written by a little girl. Among the contestants was Leota Lohr of Ipava, a pupil at the State School for the Blind and who had competed with girls with good eyes. The second prize which Leota won was $20.00, half to go to the writer and half to the institution.

WHEAT PRICES RISE SHARPLY BECAUSE OF ADVANCE AT PARIS

Close is Strong at % to 1 Cent Net Higher—Active Export Demand Lifts Corn.

Chicago, June 29.—Wheat prices here rose sharply today, chiefly influenced by a sudden big rise in quotations at Paris. The close in Chicago was strong % to %@ 1c net higher, with July at $1.01 1/2@% and September at $1.05. Corn finished % to 1c up, oats varying % @ 1/2c off to 18 advance and provisions with gains of 10 to 35c.

Besides purchasing of the July option by strong elevator interest that in turn sold the September delivery at a full carrying charge difference absorbed the offerings and created a more confident feeling as to the disposition of cash wheat on July 1st.

Disappointment as to Illinois threshing returns was an additional element against the bears.

Previous to the enws of the Paris advance, wheat prices here showed a decided inclination to sag. The chief reason appeared to be the seeming absence of any immediate chance of an adequate outlet for burndomino available supplies. Active export lifted corn. Some of the seaboard exporters were said to have been short at an unusual extent.

Better weather conditions had only a transient bearish effect.

ats were governed largely by the changes in the corn market. Closin of spreads between oats and corn however, was responsible for the relatively weakness of oats.

Provisions rallied sharply on account of month end covering by shorts. Transient early weakness was the result of a decline in the value of hogs.

MORE NUMEROUS ARRIVALS THAN EXPECTED LOWER HOGS

No Urgent Call for Cattle, Sheep or Lambs.

RECOVERIES EMBRACE VIRTUALLY ALL PARIS OF THE STOCK LIST

Action of Mexican Authorities is Received With Relief—Mexican Group Naturally Shows Greatest Improvement.

New York, June 29.—The rapidity with which stocks rebounded at today's opening on the more encouraging news from Mexico seemed to indicate an enormous over extension of the short or bear account, rather than actual investment inquiry.

The action of the Mexican authorities was received with relief, although it was recognized that other important questions bearing upon the controversy remain unsettled. Initial recoveries embraced virtually all parts of the list, the Mexican group naturally showing greatest improvement.

Petroleum opened with a block of 8,000 shares at 100 to 101 a maximum recovery of exactly ten points. Greene Cananee and American Smelting rose more than three points and Southern Pacific whose interests are largely bound up in the situation across the border made a clear gain of two points.

There were "wide" or excited openings at extreme advances of from 2 to 4 points in Reading, United States Steel, marine preferred and some of the other stocks which have contributed so largely to the trading of recent weeks. Motor shares rose 3 to 6 1/2 points and munitions 2 to 3, with average advances of two points for coppers and affiliated issues, while unclassified stocks participated in variable but substantial degree.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 750,000 shares. Further brilliant statements of railway earnings for May were submitted, Canadian Pacific leading with a net gain of $1.929,000, while Erie showed a gain of $761,000, Northern Pacific $600,000 and Southern Railway $64,000 the latter representing an increase of more than 51 per cent. Bonds were irregular. United States bonds unchanged on call.

conditions Denmark must import from countries of milder climates rice, coffee, tobacco and colonial goods in general, also cotton, jute and other materials for its textile manufactures, and from countries nearer home wool, flax and hemp. The country possesses no forests, nor does it produce either coal, iron or other minerals; it is therefore compelled to import from abroad timber, coal, petroleum, iron, steel, lead, tin, copper, zinc, etc., besides oleaginous seed for crushing, oleomargarine, wood pulp, cork, dyestuffs and many other similar goods, also feeding stuffs to satisfy the growing requirements of the farmer and finally great quantities of manufactured goods for general consumption.

"So enormous an import of foreign goods demands by necessity a corresponding export of home produce. The export of Danish farm produce and of the fishing industries alone considerably exceed the total imports, and to this must be added the export of Danish manufacturers which is not at all an insignificant item. The export of Danish home products are further augmented by a large regular re-export of foreign goods."

"From olden times the Danish customs regulations have been framed with a view to the encouragement of the transit trade."

"Thru the large and fully equipped Free Harbor the merchant is able to import and export from and too all parts of the globe without being in any way hampered by duty or other customs regulations. In his efforts to expand the transit trade the merchant is extensively supported by the Danish Banks whose business is conducted on thoroughly modern lines and whose trustworthiness is well known and generally recognized. Copenhagen is the largest bank center in Northern Europe."

"In the year 1913 there arrived in the harbor of Copenhagen (including the Free Harbor) 12,721 steamers with a total of 4,382,004 registered tons and 9,527 sailing ships with a total of 336,000 tons."

"The harbor is supplied with all appliances. A special quay is the landing place for the traffic with America."

"From the foregoing facts I am of the belief that American merchants should fully investigate the question of locating agents or representatives at Copenhagen. No disagreeable governmental restrictions are in force and foreign merchants are welcomed."
